New eRex Offers Complete Electronic Orders Management

(Birmingham, Alabama, U.S.A., May 7, 2002) — Genesis Expert Systems, Inc. has added a new offering to the XO/Commerce Supply Chain Management software solution — eRex (Electronic Retail Exchange). Wholesalers using XO/Commerce can utilize eRex for their customers to electronically create orders, returns and price changes quickly to the wholesaler via phone or the Internet. Orders can be sent through a network that has a connection to the Internet, through a dial up connection with an independent ISP, or through a dial up connection linked directly from the customer to the wholesaler.

An excellent tool for retailers and field representatives, eRex readily provides information about products, availability, pricing orders, confirmations, changes and history. Management information, reports, and item usage, and other data can be quickly retrieved. Wholesalers can provide customized catalogs to each customer with banner messages for correspondence and advertising. The on-line catalogs contain the most current information and are right at the customer's desktop — making it easy to contact the wholesaler and increasing productivity.

A complete order management system, eRex is designed to run on Windows® 95, 98, ME, 2000, NT4.0, and utilizes Internet Explorer® version 4.0 or greater. The server runs on IBM iSeries; no additional hardware is required.
